

My Final Days

This is it. This is where I die.

The plague has ravaged our entire world. We thought ourselves invincible, but that was far from the truth...our entire civilization has crumbled to dust. Our great cities lay abandoned, destroyed by our own hubris.

I write this as they loom outside, waiting for yet another helpless meal.... I only wish I could've saved them...