

Journal Foreword

I write this journal to help guide you through our downfall.

The world has collapsed, everything flooded. The cause of this? Us, of course. We enraged the gods, and they destroyed us for it.

I may be advancing steadily in age, but I can still write down our downfall, in the hope that perhaps you could fix it. Right the wrongs in our stead, since we never had a chance...

Well, all of that is in the past now. I entrust you with this, and hope you'll be able to survive in this new world. Maybe even rebuild it...